THE SHERWIN-WILLIAMS PAINT
MADE TO PAINT BUILDINGS
WITH OUTSIDE AND INSIDE

We have secured the agency for this territory for The Sherwin-Williams Paint—the best known and most widely sold house paint made.

We have decided to sell S. W. P. because we wanted to offer the trade of this community the best paint value obtainable. We placed S. W. P. because we are convinced that it's the best, safest, and most economical house paint in the market. We do not hesitate to back it with our reputation.

It covers most; spreads easiest; looks best; wears longest; saves money; and is always full measure.

Color card shows forty handsome shades.

S. W. P. is made by The Sherwin-Williams Co., the largest paint and varnish makers in the world. They operate four big factories and have offices and warehouses in twelve cities. They have built up their business on high quality goods.

No matter what you want to paint or varnish, you'll get best results and save money if you use The Sherwin-Williams Paints and Varnishes. We carry the full line.

San Jose—$42,962 contract let for high school addition.

The Athletics lost to the speedy Redwood City club on last Sunday the score standing 6-0. For six innings it was great going—neither club scoring. Time after time our catcher, Martinelli, pegging to Ed. Kennedy and "Busker" Pierce caught the fast boys trying to steal bases. Let it be recorded that there were no stolen bases. All they got in runs were simply donated by our boys. In the fatal 6th their first man up was retired by strikeout route; the next, Pratt, singled to left; the next up singled to right, then Casey singled to right and the bases were full. Shriver hits to 2nd, and Busher tossed him out at first. Stevens then hit short fly to left, Ludwig and Oliver both going after the Ball. Kennedy called the play for Oliver and Ludwig claims not to have heard it, and "bump" they did. Being stunned for a moment the ball was forgotten and 4 runs romped across home plate. Reagan then hit the air for Redwood and the side was retired. Redwood scored 2 more in the 7th, our boys not yet being over their nervous spasm. However, it was a real honest-to-goodness ball game and they want Campbell to come back. While the Club wore the Redwood City uniforms and represented that city it was really none other the Stanford University. The Athletics go to San Juan next Sunday. Billy Pavce will be on the mound. Players are all requested to meet at the residence of Manager Bradford at 9 a. m. Sunday as machines will leave promptly at this time.

Flannelette--at a true Bargain Price

You will notice in our window a display of high grade flannelettes. Owing to the sharp advance in the cost of cotton goods, this is probably the last time that we can offer you a flannelette of this fine quality for 12½c a yard.

This class of goods will soon be retailing at 15c in all dry goods stores. Remember, the price of all cotton cloth is soaring. There is nothing to be gained by delaying your fall purchases. We want you to make a selection from these flannelettes before we are compelled to ask more than 12½c a yard.

HEROES OF FIELD KITCHEN

Ranked as Noncombatants, Men Who Feed the Soldiers Are Constantly Facing Death.

Often, when the death struggle is at its height and a condition approximately chaos exists in the immediate rear of the battling armies, the fighting man's waste of energy and strength is repaired through the medium of that unique vehicle, the field kitchen. No one who has not campaigned with troops enjoying the comforts of the field kitchen can appreciate how much it makes for gustatory satisfaction, and how it promotes that elusive and highly important fighting factor—morale.

One winter's night in Poland, after spending the day watching wave upon wave of gray-coated soldiers roll up and break against the Russian trenches and entanglements, I was making my way back to a field hospital where I was a guest when my eyes caught the twinkle of a long row of lights that waved above the road. The lights were moving slowly but steadily toward the battle front. Soon the grate and rattle of the iron boilers sounded clear in the frosty air, helping me to recognize a train of field kitchens bumping along the frozen road. The brazier chimneys flare and I whiffed a fragrance of potherbs and boiling meat.

I knew from personal observation that the enemy were deluging a particular turn of that road with six-inch and three-inch shells. At that very moment one could see them exploding in groups of four. On went the field kitchens, each with a driver muffled up to the eyes against the Russian cold, lumbering into the danger zone. Into the valley of death that train of field kitchens was most certainly riding. Cannons to left of them and cannons to right of them most assuredly thundered. All the rest of Tennyson's lyric eulogium might apply to the patient drivers.

I watched in admiration as the kitchens rolled onward, speculating upon the thoughts of men who thus went into battle. Such men were classed as noncombatants. Their function was to feed the fighters—essentially a non-inspiring role. Theirs was none of the glory of battle; yet the character of their courage stood the severest tests. What the presence of these kitchens meant to the battle-beaten battalions cannot be measured in words. I am tempted to say that the resistance of a present-day fighting army is in direct proportion to the efficiency of its field-kitchen train.—Greenville Fortescue, in Saturday Evening Post.

Motorman a Modern Atlas.

Got any old thing you want lifted? A piano, gas range, front stoop, woodshed, bureau or mortgage, or a relative who's overstaying his leave, or anything like that? If you have, just write to Frank Green, motorman at the car barns, and he'll not only lift them, but toss them any place you say. The other day he lifted a horse weighing 1,350 pounds, about 20 feet in the air. Frank, who weighs only 135 pounds, did the lifting with the assistance of a derrick. He placed a canvas belt around the astonished horse, connected with a belt that circled his own waist, and then stepping into a frame rigged up for the occasion and connected with the derrick, gave the signal for the derrick men to haul away; the horse's dead weight being suspended from the motorman's waist. "Did you do it on a bet?" Green was asked. "Nix. I did it just for fun. I like to lift heavy things. Little things like wagons and motor cars blocking the tracks don't bother me. I just toss 'em to one side."—New York Letter to the Pittsburgh Dispatch.

Education in South China.

Literacy among the people of South China is considerably greater than among those of the North. Claim is advanced in Canton that nearly all the children of Cantonese parentage, except those of the large boat population, receive sufficient schooling to enable them to learn to read, whereas in the North of China it is unusual to find a family the children of which are all placed in school. The native newspaper is read by a considerably larger number than the list of subscribers to that paper would make it appear. In and about Shanghai papers are sold two and three times over. Collectors go about gathering up the newspapers of the previous day's issue, redistributing them among the lower class of population. It is said that they are then further distributed by being sent out to the villages and country sections, where they are sold for a fraction of a cent apiece.

Steps to the Mile.

How many steps do you take to the mile? Should you be a British infantryman your pace will be the longest of any infantryman in the world. The Russians' pace is the shortest, being 27½ inches, the French, Italian and Austrian paces are 29 inches, the Germans do 31 inches, whilst the English stride an extra half inch.

But your own pace, what of it? It depends upon your height. Take your eyebrow height, halve it, and that represents your pace. You will find it to be somewhere between 30 inches and 32 inches, so that you will need between 2,000 and 2,100 paces to the mile.

MAKING DUTY EASY

HOUSEWIFE'S SCHEME DECIDEDLY WORTH CONSIDERATION.

Much Less a Task When One Can Conceive to Turn Necessary Work Into Something That May Be Termed Amusing.

"Dear, will you see to Horace? I think he's hungry," remarked the hostess to her husband.

"Who is Horace?" asked the weekend guest. The hostess laughed.

"Why, it's the furnace," she admitted. "You see, we have got into the merry way of playing a game with our housekeeping, and naming everything in the house. It isn't nearly as much of a task to tend the furnace when it is named Horace and is, in a way, a helpful, active member of the family, as when it is regarded merely as a nuisance. A furnace isn't a nuisance, you know. It is a big, comfortable friend—only, like most friends, it has to be liked and appreciated and visited with in order to do its best work." So, instead of going down to put coal in a cold, forbidding, ugly stove, my husband goes down to feed Horace, and make him feel better for having his cinders shaken down, to pat him metaphorically with the poker, and thank him for keeping the water in the bathroom warm. Silly, isn't it? But it brings such a nice glow of fun into an ordinary job.

"My kitchen range is named Aunt Susan. Into her ample lap I put my cooking utensils, knowing that she will help me make everything appetizing and savory, aid me in getting my dinner ready on time, and hum gently to herself when I leave her alone with the teakettle. She is like a wise, experienced old aunt to a young housekeeper like me.

"We have a battered old roadster that is lovingly termed Old Dobbin, since the accession of the smart little car which we call James—as if it were chauffeur, footman and butler rolled into one. Dobbin drives the children to school, runs all the village errands, and takes us on all the family outings, while with James, I go calling, we drive to church, and altogether keep up the family 'tone.'" The hostess, a simple woman of simple tastes, smiled at this as at a huge joke, for she and the host were their own chauffeurs and footmen, and were as free from pretension as well could be.

"It is just one way of making friends of the familiar objects we have about us every day," she explained. "One takes a special interest, then, in even the commonplace, uninteresting, even unattractive, things one may have to deal with. For example, I don't so much mind scouring my big iron skillet now that I call it Old Black Joe. And the children do not mind washing and wiping dishes when they name the different kinds of china and glass by families—Mr. and Mrs. Willowware being the two large platters, and the plates and other dishes being their children, nephews and nieces. It is just one of the jolly little games that may make over the prosaic program of everyday duties into fun."

Brightening the Shave.
An Englishman, weary of bloodshed, has bethought him of a means of enlightening the gloomy and otherwise dangerous ritual of the shave, says Popular Science Monthly. He has invented a miniature electric lamp provided with an adjustable clip and flexible cord which may be attached to the razor and light the path of the blade through the tough bristles of the human face.

With his lamp attachment one may plunge fearlessly into the blackest depths of a three days' growth of beard and emerge from the ordeal unscathed. The lamp is attached to a conventional type of razor by a simple clip. It travels with the blade or with the motion of the hand. By looking into the mirror the man shaving himself can determine just what progress he is making and whether or not he is going to come through the operation with his two ears intact.

Siberia Picking Up.

A number of new commercial enterprises have recently been undertaken in northeast Siberia. Many iodine works have been established in the neighborhood of Vladivostok, on the shore of the Japanese sea, the iodine being made from seaweed found there in abundance. An interesting distillery for ether has been opened, the bulk of the ingredients being violets and iris blossoms from the Ussuri countryside. A good deal of amber is being collected from the beach along the coast of Premorsk and many new salt workings have been opened in the government of Irkutsk and in the Lena hinterland in the vicinity of Viluiisk.—Chicago Journal.

People in Books.

There is no possession people are so unwilling to let one have as an imagination. In private friends will tear a book to shreds to discover some portrait they can recognize; and in the case of authors famous enough to be dead, critics rake the ground wherever they have trod in an effort to prove that the folk of their fancy were drawn from the earth rather than the air. There seems no means of convincing a reader that in a writer's head are constantly a thousand faces he has never seen or heard of, all subtle with story, and all so real that they often make his daily waking seem a dream.—Winifred Kirkland in the Atlantic Monthly.

Central American Eden

THIS is written in what would be called in Virginia a "manor house." But since it is in Guatemala it is of the Spanish colonial rather than the English colonial type, says Wingrove Bathon in the Utica Saturday Globe.

The residence is the office and home of the largest sugar plantation in Central America, and to visit it has been a privilege which has fallen to the lot of very few residents of the United States, or of Europe, either, for that matter, as the records of visitors here show.

The great Humboldt came down through these fertile valleys of black mud years ago and recorded that he had found at last the celebrated "garden of Eden," and he predicted that what was then a wilderness beneath the tropic sun would some day blossom and bear fruit—the sweetest dreams of the agriculturist.

But he never dreamed that here would one day be found, as anyone who comes here may, a sugar mill in which it was necessary to invest, as is done in the United States and in Cuba, $500,000 before a pound of sugar could be obtained. Nor did he dream that visitors of today would find, as they do, an American chemist making sugar with a polariscope, assisted by thousands of Indians of the west coast of Central America, descendants of the ancient Toltecs mixed with Mayas.

GUATEMALAN INDIAN GIRL

The approach to Pantaleon for the writer and the circumstances of the inspection were exceptional. It may be as well to set down here that in Guatemala and in many other Central American countries, a plantation, or a series of plantations, is known as a "finca."

Magnificent Scenery.
The start was made from Guatemala City, the capital, in the morning. Down grade through magnificent views of the mountains and volcanoes which make a setting for the capital the train traveled over the west coast branch of the International Railways of Central America, which was built by the late C. P. Huntington despite almost insurmountable obstacles of an engineering character, and among waterfalls and water powers from which some day will be developed vast electrical energy.

Towering above the train as it wound down through canyons, amid the hazy, fleecy clouds were the peaks of the twin volcanoes, Agua (water) and Fuego (fire), no longer active, which have sent down into these valleys in years gone by showers of rich black mud that contains all the chemical elements of the best fertilizers, and in which three crops of corn each year are raised. A third volcano, Santa Maria, blew out in 1904, destroying millions of dollars' worth of property.

The train skirted the shores of one of the most beautiful lakes in the world, as interesting and as beautiful as anything Switzerland has ever offered any traveler—Lake Amatitlan—where some of the well-known residents of the capital maintain bungalows for recreation; not for "summer resort" purposes, as there is neither winter nor summer in Guatemala.

The train passed through miles and miles of tender, green, young sugar cane, as well as cane in full growth, being cut by the Indian laborers, or occasionally by Jamaican negroes, whose villages of thatched cottages lined the tracks and were visible in the valleys down which the train sped. Some cottages were thatched with banana leaves, some roofed with red, native tiles of beautiful tints.

Indian Fruit Sellers.

Indians came to the train with pineapples in size and flavor far superior to anything one obtains in the United States, and with coconuts, grapes, alligator pears, rich, juicy, fruity mangoes of fresh pink and red and pale green tints, as different from the dark, pickled mango of United States consumption as can well be imagined.

Everywhere, from Guatemala City to San Jose, on the Pacific, there was, in truth, a very "garden of Eden," with immense tracts of land not yet taken up, ready for the enterprising citizen of the United States, whom the government of Guatemala is ready at every turn to encourage and to assist.

At Esquintla, a modern city of brick and stone and cement, there are memorials of the Spanish domination, and of the times when the aristocracy of Guatemala went there each January and February for diversion. It is a city filled with palms, and there are many beautiful baths.

There are other memorials, too, and some of these attracted immediate attention upon arrival at Pantaleon. These are of the Indians who are making that great estate, the greatest in Central America, still greater. In the patio behind the "manor house" was a great group of stone idols, visible through the open doors of the residence, with a fountain for a foreground which was surrounded by four immense coconut palms, studded a few feet up with that parasite of the tropics—orchids. No one knew when or how the idols had come there.

It is said that all along the west coast once extended the tribes of Cholula, who founded many "lordships." Sculptured stone idols were first found in this neighborhood in 1830. Excavations brought to light pillars, statues, stone obelisks, etc. Bas-reliefs were found which contained the representations of the horns of cows. Oxen were not known in the new world before the arrival of the Spaniards.

Some archeologists and historians, therefore, believe that these bas-reliefs represent the goddess Isis of the Egyptians. But this has to do with ancient history and the mystery of the civilization and settlement of Central America, a theme for the scientists. As we turned away from the sculptured stone idols and monuments at Pantaleon plantation we found, ready waiting, a most up-to-date steam locomotive and private car, to transport us through the miles and miles of sugar cane to San Vicente, a coffee beneficio (cleaning factory), and another beneficio, named San Gregorio, also belonging to Herrerra Brothers, the owners of Pantaleon sugar plantation and mill.

Coffee and Sweetening.

The coffee trees had just come into flower and their fruit was not yet ready to wash and put through the various processes, but we were in luck on the sugar plantations, for it was cutting and grinding season, and after we had watched the 5,000 cattle grazing knee deep in the great pastures and the Indians cutting the cane we came back to the mill and the manor house.

In the mill we saw 1,000 bags of 100 pounds each of refined white sugar being turned out each day. Sugar cane was fed in and refined sugar in sacks, 1,000 of them a day, taken out. The mill worked night and day, 24 hours on a stretch. Grinding season began at Christmas and continued until the middle of May. There are 60,000 tons of cane in a crop.

The white granulated sugar goes to the United States and white Demarara crystal sugar is made for export to London. Every Indian on the place has been taught there. There is a splendid laboratory equipment, with perfect chemical and scientific control of the product.

COURTYARD OF GUATEMALAN PLANTATION

Genius Is Useless Unless Backed by Real Energy

By DUDLEY CRAFTS WATSON
Director Milwaukee Art Institute

The only happy people in the world are the successful ones, and the successful ones are the workers. Downright laziness on their own part is not only the chief reason for the whimperings of those who have failed, but is the root of their lack of judgment.

A person may be dead wrong, may have an altogether impossible viewpoint, but good, hard labor soon finds the many experiences which bring sound judgment. This is especially true in the art world, the technique of painting, sculpture, music, architecture and acting can be imparted from teacher to pupil, but the real art which is to inspire the use of this knowledge and to bring forth a worthy result, can only be gained through an esthetic background, or by experience.

I will bank upon a stolid plodder with ambitions, whether he has much genius or not, ahead of any genius who does not have the ability to concentrate, and a ceaseless industry. When the genius is also a worker, he absolutely becomes a master, but no genius, lazy, ever became anything but an exotic fop winning the sympathy of his friends, the love of a few more weaklings and the scorn of the rest of the world, and when he dies in poverty and without honor, the world says: "Oh, how sad, such a beautiful spirit, and wonderful genius unappreciated by the world, which should have received him with open arms." Laziness is the major trouble.

WILD BILL'S FAMOUS SMILE CAN CHANGE INTO A FROWN

Hugh Jennings Tells How "Fighting" Disposition of New York Manager Showed at Times.

According to Hugh Jennings, the Detroit manager, who had several years' experience with the subject of this sketch, back of that famous smile of Wild Bill Donovan there was a mighty "fighting" disposition.

"Bill has lost his smile on any number of occasions," says Hughie. "I can recall numerous instances when the Tigers were fighting for the pennant in the years 1907, 1908, 1909, that Bill frowned quite as often as did any of the rest of us.

"For several weeks in the season of 1907 the Tigers were in front, but they couldn't gain on the Mackmen. Then came a series with Cleveland. Just prior to the Tiger-Nap engagement the Cleveland team had played three games with the Athletics and had used second-string pitchers. When Detroit showed up the Naps had Joss, Rhoades, Moore, Hess and Bernhard ready and we were beaten in three games.

"After the third game I spent a few minutes jawing with Addie Joss. Bill joined us and right afterward Rhoades slipped in. Then Doc Payne, the Cleveland trainer, inserted his voice. This was too much for Bill.

"Turning toward Payne, he yelled: "'Now, you get out of this argument—and stay out. I know you have a reputation as a fighter, but either show something now or get on your way.' "Payne left."

Ten Health Commandments.

1. Keep windows open day and night.
2. Do not spit.
3. Breathe through the nose by keeping the mouth shut.
4. Drink pure water.
5. Eat slowly, take well-cooked meals, and cultivate regular habits.
6. Wear loose clothing of reasonable material.
7. Take regular open-air exercises in sunshine if possible.
8. Wash whole body at least once a week.
9. Work, but do not worry.
10. Get house drains certified by sanitary authority.—Elizabeth Gregg in Health.

Accidents on Common Carriers.

Fifteen thousand accidents on steam railroads, street railways and other common carriers during the year ended May 31, 1916, is the record in Pennsylvania, says the public service bureau of accidents.

Mother's Cook Book.

Spanish Rice.

Take a cupful of boiled rice, four tablespoonfuls of grated cheese, four tablespoonfuls of sifted tomato, one teaspoonful of onion, two tablespoonfuls of butter, one teaspoonful each of chutney, mustard and curry powder, salt and a dash of pepper. Melt the butter in a saucepan, put in the onion and curry and cook for a few minutes. Add the rice, cheese, tomato pulp, mustard and chopped chutney; mix and beat well together. Season and turn into a baking dish. Sprinkle with browned crumbs and put into the oven to heat. Serve very hot with brown bread and butter.

Raspberries in Snow.

Pour a cupful of cold water and a cupful of sugar over a package of gelatin, stir until the sugar is dissolved, and let stand until stiff. Add a cupful of boiling water and the juice of two lemons. Beat the whites of four eggs until frothy, add to the gelatin and continue to beat until white, when it is ready to set; fold in a pint of ripe berries, pour into a mold and set away to harden. Serve cold with whipped cream.

Frozen Dainties.

Even a cupful of fruit juice may be combined with a little orange or lemon juice, some cream and sugar, and when frozen make a most delicious dessert for a hot day. Grape juice, one cupful, a tablespoonful of lemon juice to make the color more brilliant, and sugar to taste, with a pint of cream frozen, is the most delightful bit of color served in sherbet cups, and tastes every bit as good as it looks.

Good Things for Warm Days.

Rice lends itself in many ways to give us attractive dishes. The simplest of these is rice baked with milk. Two or three tablespoonfuls of rice added with the same amount of sugar and a little salt to one or two quarts of milk, with or without raisins, and baked in a slow oven for three or four hours, makes a most satisfying pudding, good for little people as well as their elders.

Nellie Maxwell

Organdies in High Favor.

Some of the loveliest frocks of the summer are of organdie. Organdie lends itself well to the billowy effects in fashion and yards and yards of the crisp, sheer fabric go into ruffles, flounces, puffs and shirrings for the new organdie dresses. An organdie frock for a young girl has a skirt eight yards around, tucked from hem to belt by hand; the bodice is also tucked across to match and the sleeves are little puffs with hand-hemmed ruffles. The complete effect is delightfully girlish and charming. There is youthfulness also in a second organdie frock, a model with rows of shirring around the hips. Only a slender, girlish figure could stand this very bouffant frock, with its full, gathered waist drawn down into a tiny ribbon sash. The sash is violet in color.

Lingerie Frocks Worn.

There is an effort being made to make lingerie frocks fashionable again by some of the fine dressmakers. Now that laces and embroidery are in again this seems to be the moment. Some lovely frocks are seen made of finest white batiste with heavy French embroideries in very high relief and combined with flounces of eight or ten-inch flit, or lace of the valenciennes type. The loose fencelike collar, attached to a wide shallow decollete, and made of lace lightly wired, is generally seen on these frocks.

Messages $1 a Word.

The Society Islands, far away in the South seas, now have a wireless communication with the outer world, a radio station having been opened by the French government on the island of Tahiti last winter.

Communication with the United States will be by way of Samoa and New Zealand, and thence by cable to San Francisco. It is expected that the cost of messages to the United States will exceed $1 a word. Later on it is hoped to reduce this more than half by sending the messages over an all-wireless route.

CALOMEL SELDOM SOLD HERE NOW

Nasty drug salivates, makes you sick and you lose a day's work.

Every druggist in town—your druggist and everybody's druggist has noticed a great falling-off in the sale of calomel. They all give the same reason. Dodson's Liver Tone is taking its place. "Calomel is dangerous, and people know it, while Dodson's Liver Tone is perfectly safe and gives better results," said a prominent local druggist. Dodson's Liver Tone is personally guaranteed by every druggist who sells it. A large bottle costs 50 cents, and if it fails to give easy relief in every case of liver sluggishness and constipation, you have only to ask for your money back.

Dodson's Liver Tone is a pleasant-tasting, purely vegetable remedy, harmless to both children and adults. Take a spoonful at night and wake up feeling fine; no biliousness, sick headache, acid stomach or constipated bowels. It doesn't gripe or cause inconvenience all the next day like violent calomel. Take a dose of calomel today and tomorrow you will feel weak, sick and nauseated. Don't lose a day's work! Take Dodson's Liver Tone instead and feel fine, full of vigor and ambition.—Adv.

NO MORE WEAK KIDNEYS; BACKACHE, RHEUMATISM

BACKACHE, RHEUMATISM

New Specific Soon to be Brought to town, Says Letter:

Dear Mr. Editor:—Just lately, I am told and beg to inform your readers, that the famous Dr. Pierce, of whose medicines and Surgical Institution in Buffalo, New York, we have heard for years, has added to his popularity by assenting to put before the American people, "An-Uric." This prescription is adapted especially for kidney complaints and diseases arising from disorders of the kidneys and bladder, such as backache, weak back, rheumatism, dropsy, congestion of the kidneys, inflammation of the bladder, scalding urine and urinary troubles. The physicians and specialists at Dr. Pierce's great Institution have thoroughly tested this prescription and have been with one accord successful in eradicating these troubles, and in most cases absolutely curing the diseased kidneys.

Patients having once used "An-Uric" at the Institution have repeatedly sent back for more. Such a demand has been created that Doctor Pierce has decided to put "An-Uric" in the drug stores of this country, in a ready-to-use form. It will be their own fault if the public does not take advantage of this wonderful remedy.

I know of one or two leading druggists here who have managed to procure a supply of "An-Uric" for their anxious customers in and around this locality.

I have used "An-Uric" and believe it to be the greatest of kidney medicines and I have tried many. A few doses will convince, I feel certain.

A FIRM BELIEVER.

Manhood Alone Is What Counts

By J. G. HOLLAND

Labor, calling, profession, scholarship and artificial and arbitrary distinctions of all sorts, are incidents and accidents of life and pass away. It is only manhood that remains, and it is only by manhood that man is to be measured. When this proposition shall be comprehended and accepted, it will become easy to see that there is no such thing as menial work in this world. No work that God sets a man to do—no work to which God has specially adapted a man's powers—can properly be called either menial or mean. The man who blacks your boots and blacks them well, and who engages in that variety of labor because he can do it better than he can do anything else, may have, if he choose, just as sound and true a manhood as you have, not only after he gets through the work of his life, but now, with your boots in one hand and your shilling in the other. There is very much dirtier work done in politics and sometimes in the professions, than that of blacking boots; work, too, which destroys manhood, or renders its acquisition impossible.

Perils of Nature

By DR. SAMUEL G. DIXON
Commissioner of Health of Pennsylvania

Our streams, once undefiled by man, ran from the mountains to the sea in all of nature's purity. They ran through our valleys and meadows in all their pristine beauty and offered to all animate nature that which would innocently quench the thirst of man and beast and help them live. Today it is not so.

In that with which nature has endowed much of our territory more richly than many other countries, we now find lurking poison so hidden that in some cases it is to be seen only by the aid of the microscope.

In the season when we travel through the country to be happy and lay up energy and strength for the toll of the coming winter, the want of intelligence and care makes us deaf to the teaching of preventive medicine, and we quench our thirst at the stream we run across, regardless of its purity, and often the sparkling tumbler of water is only to be compared with the draught of the deadly hemlock. The parched lips have been moistened and the thirst satisfied, but the day of judgment too often comes, bringing the development of typhoid fever which in years past we could only compare with some of the plagues that ravaged our ancient cities.

Those of us who collect, tabulate and have ever before us the statistics that show the suffering and sorrow that still continue from typhoid fever, beg you to awaken to that which causes so much distress. By proper care it can be avoided.

Never drink out of an unknown surface stream. When traveling see that pure water is carried along, as well as food, otherwise the harvest of sickness and death will follow.

Boys Weaker Than Girls.

In view of the number of men killed by the war, the result of a study now being made by an English physician is rather pessimistic as regards the future masculine supremacy of the race. For a period covering nearly five years his study indicates that the mortality of boys under a year of age has been from 123 to 125, as compared with 100 for girl babies. Notwithstanding the fact that at birth boys have the advantage of four to five ounces of weight over the average girl baby, they have less resistant power and are therefore less able to throw off disease. The reports upon babies born since the war are incomplete, but they indicate that while the number of boys born is considerably in excess of the girls, the number who survive their first year is so much less that there is no hope of the men of the next generation equaling the number of women.

Her Stockings.

A tiny pocket on the side of a pair of silk stockings provides a place for carrying the handkerchief while dancing. This pocket is just a nice height above the ankle and on the outer side of the right stocking.

Opal spangles ornament some stockings; others are decorated with beads or rhinestones, and for every variety we have the hand-painted stockings with stalks of blooming plants forming the "clocks" and gay butterflies fluttering over the instep.

Imagine the truly poetic effect of three lace butterflies (with wings upraised so that they flutter bewitchingly) on the front of her stockings, one above the other, from instep to shooetop height! Of course, these are to be worn only with dancing slippers, or similar ones equally low.

Aeroplane Has Outstripped Motor Car in the Rapidity of Its Recent Development.

"The aeroplane in its developed state would decide many of the problems we confront today, provided the plane were fitted to living conditions and commercial requirements," says a writer. "The war has perfected the aeroplane in this short time to a greater degree than the motor car was developed in any ten years of its growth."

"Several years were taken to prove to the public that the motor car would run at all without a horse in waiting. Years were taken to educate the public to two cylinders as against the single, or to four as against the two. Years more were spent in educating the buying public and developing the six, and now we are preaching eight and twelve. It has taken years to develop the light-weight idea in motor cars. The public has held back the development of the motor car."

"The aeroplane, in contrast, has been developed by governments under war conditions. Motors of today for aeroplanes are of twice the horsepower of those used a year ago, while planes have been built up to 1,000 horsepower in five motor units. These machines land at under 30 miles per hour and travel well over a hundred in the air."

performed the marriage ceremony for most of them."

Struck the Wrong Place.

"Say," queried the tough-looking hobo at the kitchen door, "where's de guy wot lives here?"

"Oh," answered the farmer's wife, who was evidently wiser than her home-grown complexion would seem to indicate, "he's back of the barn burying a tramp the dog chewed up this morning. Wait a second and I will call him."

But by the time she reached the door the unwashed hobo was headed down the pike, beating it at an aeroplane gait.

Deserves it.

"There goes a pious man."

"Everyone says so."

"A mansion is reserved for him in the skies."

"I truly hope so. I overheard him just now in a real estate office pleading with his landlord to patch his roof."

"This quartet is splendid."

"Yes," answered the low-browed person. "It's great, I thought once or twice the bass was going to be a few seconds late with that comedy stuff, but he was right on time."

Ambitious Plans.

"Are you prepared to do anything for the heathen?" asked the mission worker.

"I should say we are!" answered the capitalist, proudly. "We've sent some of our best salesmen to China, and I predict that in a short while hundreds of well-to-do Chinese will be enjoying rides in the best motor car made in America."

THE WISE FOOL THAT SINGS.

Sages are not really wise Till they read in Folly's eyes Lore that puts to rout their rules, Wisdom that escapes the schools.

Tell me, sages, what live is! Silent! But what fool would miss Kiss or laughter, glance or sigh, Waiting for your slow reply?

Sages, tell me, what is life? While you prate of "joy" and "strife," Mumble, definitions give, Fools like me rejoice to live!

While you labor, dig and seek, Dull of eye and gray of cheek, While you study, delve, explain, Define, example, think, refrain.

Ponder on the meaning of Life and death, and joy and love, Laws discover, reasons frame, Fools are playing at the game.

Seers and sages are not wise, Lacking wisdom to revise All they've learned and taught in schools By the laughter of us fools!

A Woman's Problem

How to Feel Well During Middle Life Told by Three Women Who Learned from Experience.

The Change of Life is a most critical period of a woman's existence, and neglect of health at this time invites disease and pain. Women everywhere should remember that there is no other remedy known to medicine that will so successfully carry women through this trying period as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs. Read these letters:—

Philadelphia, Pa.—"I started the Change of Life five years ago. I always had a headache and backache with bearing down pains and I would have heat flashes very bad at times with dizzy spells and nervous feelings. After taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I feel like a new person and am in better health and no more troubled with the aches and pains I had before I took your wonderful remedy. I recommend it to my friends for I cannot praise it enough."—MRS. MARGARET GRASSMAN, 759 N. Ringgold St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Beverly, Mass.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, for nervousness and dyspepsia, when I was going through the Change of Life. I found it very helpful and I have always spoken of it to other women who suffer as I did and have had them try it and they also have received good results from it."—MRS. GEORGE A. DUNBAR, 17 Roundy St., Beverly, Mass.

Erie, Pa.—"I was in poor health when the Change of Life started with me and I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, or I think I should not have got over it as easy as I did. Even now if I do not feel good I take the Compound and it restores me in a short time. I will praise your remedies to every woman for it may help them as it has me."—MRS. E. KISSLING, 931 East 24th St., Erie, Pa.

No other medicine has been so successful in relieving woman's suffering as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Women may receive free and helpful advice by writing the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. Such letters are received and answered by women only and held in strict confidence.

TRUE INWARDNESS OF THE VERA CRUZ INCIDENT.

In the spring of 1914, occurred the capture of Vera Cruz. Men from one of our ships had been arrested at Tampico and had been discharged with an apology. But our admiral demanded a salute, which was refused. Thereupon the president went to congress, asking authority to use the armed forces of the United States. Without waiting for the passage of the resolution, Vera Cruz was seized. It appeared that a shipload of ammunition for Huerta was about to enter that port. There was a natural opposition to this invasion and a battle occurred in which nineteen Americans and over a hundred Mexicans were killed. This, of course, was war. Our dead soldiers were praised for dying like heroes in a war of service. Later, we retired from Vera Cruz, giving up this noble warfare. We had not obtained the salute which was demanded. We had not obtained reparation for affronts. The ship with ammunition which could not land at Vera Cruz had soon landed at another port, and its cargo was delivered to Huerta without interference. Recently the naked truth was admitted by a cabinet officer. We are now informed that "we did not go to Vera Cruz to force Huerta to salute the flag." We are told that we went there "to show Mexico that we were in earnest in our demand that Huerta must go." That is, we seized Vera Cruz to depose Huerta. The question of the salute was a mere pretext. From Mr. Hughes' Speech of Acceptance.

WANTS AN EFFECTIVE SYSTEM OF RURAL CREDITS.

We propose to promote by every practicable means our agricultural interests, and we include in this program an effective system of rural credits. We favor the wise conservation of our natural resources. We desire not only that they shall be safeguarded, but that they shall be adequately developed and used to the utmost public advantage.—Mr. Hughes' Speech of Acceptance.

A POLICY OF FIRMNESS AND CONSISTENCY NEEDED.

The nation has no policy of aggression toward Mexico. We have no desire for any part of her territory. We wish her to have peace, stability and prosperity. We shall have to adopt a new policy, a policy of firmness and consistency through which alone we can promote an enduring friendship. We demand from Mexico the protection of the lives and the property of our citizens and the security of our border from depredations. Much will be gained if Mexico is convinced that we contemplate no meddlesome interference with what does not concern us, but that we propose to insist in a firm and candid manner upon the performance of international obligations. To a stable government, appropriately discharging its international duties, we should give ungrudging support. A short period of firm, consistent and friendly dealing will accomplish more than many years of vacillation.—From Mr. Hughes' Speech of Acceptance.

THE state now boasts of 1500 high school cadets. This is in keeping with the preparedness program and familiarizes the boys with army drills and tactics in a general way. This drill and its regulations are of great benefit physically and have a beneficial effect on the boys in other matters such as punctuality, precision and consideration of their superiors. The chief fault may be found in the class or caste system which develops where the boys are permitted to wear their uniforms in other class rooms.

THE English sparrow is a pest and the sooner the country wakes up to the fact the better. Already some cities have instituted action to destroy this pest. Such as paying bounty or salary to responsible parties. Within a short time it will be necessary for every town to institute some kind of extermination proceedings and many individuals are already at it.

The tickets for the Chrysanthemum Fete, which has been planned to increase the Campbell library fund, are now on sale.

These are for admission to either evening entertainment, and are 25c for adults and 10c for children. Considerable interest is already manifest and a number of tickets have been sold to people in San Jose and others of our neighbors.

No time or efforts are being spared to make the affair a success along every line so that it will well warrant the hearty support of all who are interested in the advancement of our village and in helping to maintain a desirable place where young and old may spend a part of their time.

Notice to Public

Beginning with Monday the stores of Campbell will be closed week days at six o'clock p. m. except Saturdays. Kindly bear this in mind and do your shopping accordingly.

Mr. S. Warren Douglas, county secretary of the Y. M. C. Associations, will be present and speak at the morning service at the Methodist church, where he wishes to meet the boys of the community.

We are in receipt of the following letter sent from the office of the County Committee of the Y. M. C. A. of this county located in Los Gatos.

Dear Sir:—

We are glad to announce that Mr. S. Warren Douglas began work September 1st as County Secretary of Young Men's Christian Associations. Mr. Douglas is a graduate of Hamline, Minnesota, and is one of the pioneers in County Work, having served very successfully as County Secretary in Minnesota, in Orange County this State three years, and in Fresno County six years.

Mr. C. Gaines, Chairman of the Fresno County Committee for the six years, says:

"Santa Clara County is to be congratulated on the prospect of having Mr. Douglas in the beginning to establish the Young Men's Christian Association work on the right lines. He is an intelligent Christian gentleman and has had comparatively large experience in Y. M. C. A. County Work. He has a genuine sympathetic interest in the boy, both as to his material and spiritual welfare. He will not antagonize any of the established agencies, such as the school and the church, that make for righteousness but will cooperate with them. He knows how."

We commend Mr. Douglas to all those in our County interested in the County's greatest asset—her boys. Be ready to cooperate in this important character-building enterprise.

Yours sincerely,
THE COUNTY COMMITTEE,
WM. D. McRAE, State County Work Secretary.

The members of the Congregational church at a business meeting Monday evening unanimously extended a call to the Rev. Wm. Eckles of Alturas, Cal. The call has been accepted and he will enter upon his duties Oct. 1st, by which time they expect to be settled in their new home at The Mansse.

Mr. and Mrs. Eckles are not strangers to this part of the state altho having been in Northern California for some time, as Mrs. Eckles is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Aiken of San Jose and a sister of Mrs. Homer De Witt Pugh.

The citizens of Campbell unite with the members of their congregation in extending a welcome to the Rev. and Mrs. Eckles.

Hughes Points the Way

The speech of the Republican candidate for president was a keynote speech indeed. Not one person in the great audience at the Carnegie hall meeting was in doubt for one moment as to just what he meant by everything he said.

His address was comprehensive, logical, clear and all sufficient for the occasion. There can be no dispute as to this. Plainly Mr. Hughes is a man who "knows what he wants when he wants it," and it is the opinion of political authorities who heard him and who have since read his remarks that he knows also how to get it.

It was incumbent upon the Republican candidate to confine the scope of his remarks to the limitations of the occasion, but his crushing analysis of the shortcomings of the present administration of the government is merely an earnest of what the tone and the contents of his speeches will be when he gets on the stump.

At Carnegie hall Mr. Hughes adverted to every general question that is apt to be a serious issue in the campaign and in language that will be absolutely clear to every man or woman able to read he stated his opinions, his convictions and his purposes. On the stump he will argue those points in detail. As an orator he is eloquent, his personality attractive, and his marshaling of facts so cohesive that he holds his audience to the end. He makes it easy for them to follow him, and his points are not lost.

There was nothing equivocal, nothing apologetic in the Republican candidate's speech of acceptance. He called a spade a spade, and the unanimous opinion of those who heard him was that he shot to the center and rang the bell. The Republican campaign is now open, and those who will speak and write and work for the success of the Republican ticket can wish for no more adequate campaign document, no more satisfactory statement of issues than are found in the candidate's salutatory.

R. C. WOODS,
Administrator of the estate of Theodore J. Woods, deceased.

L. A. ENOS, attorney for said administrator.

We must take Vera Cruz to get Huerta out of office and trust to other nations to get our own citizens out of peril. What a travesty of international policy!

Destroying the government of Huerta, we left Mexico to the ravages of revolution.

I stand for adequate federal workmen's compensation laws.

The administration was to seize and punish Villa for his outrage on our soil. It has not punished any one; we wait in only to retire.
